THE TRUE PHYSICIAN.

An old saying is "a man is a fool or a physician at forty." Certainly an experience of over half a life time should teach a man at least enough of the laws of nature to protect himself from his own peculiar weaknesses. It is at once extraordinary and shameful that the young are not drilled more carefully in the laws of hygiene. The idea that whatever tastes good is healthy, is so silly that people who have given the least thought to the operations of digestion and assimilation, would be ashamed to be thought guilty of believing it. An article of food may please the palate and sour the stomach, or it may be adapted to both and disagree with the liver. If over work or bad food reduces a body, so neuralgia, dyspepsia or catarrh sets in, the first thing is to rush to a doctor or buy a lot of patent medicines. If an ulcer appears, the doctor says put on a salve. The sore disappears, but the poison that made it is not removed from the blood. If it is a catarrh, he prescribes a snuff and the discharge stops. "Where does the poison go then? Into the blood. The blood is rushing to every part of the body, and all the time trying to throw off the poison. If the man would take a bath, it might go off through the pores, but the chances are he will try to relieve his headache by some other kind of patent medicine. The true remedy is to stop all worry, don't over work the mind, eat good food, wash the skin and let nature have a chance. The neuralgia, dyspepsia, catarrh headache, salt rheum, and all that will go. Dr. Dio. Lewis says the true treatment is as follows: Eat a dish of oat meal, one baked potato and one slice of bread for breakfast; a piece of roast beef as large as your hand, with one boiled potato and one slice of bread for dinner; nothing for supper, and go to bed early. Sleep if possible half an hour before dinner. Drink nothing with your meals, nor immediately after. Drink cold water on rising and going to bed, and before meals if desired. Some weak stomachs need these draughts hot instead of cold. Live four to six hours a day outdoors. Bathe frequently, and rub the skin hard with hair gloves every night. In less than a week one handkerchief will do you and yet you haven't touched medicine to your nose.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In 50 years, when the population of the United States shall have become 190,000,000, the young man will have to hunt far for a place to grow up with the country. The struggle for a living will then be a serious one. It therefore behooves young men to look about them and secure a quarter-section of land somehow before it is too late. There is still lots of good ground left.

The Marquis of Salisbury, speaking at a banquet of the Carlton club, said: The defeat of Hicks Pasha must end all thoughts of the withdrawal of British troops from Egypt. French papers express the opinion that the disaster will lead to a permanent English occupation of Egypt.

The French Chamber of Deputies discussed the estimates for warship, and the extreme left attacked the attitude of the clergy and demanded a separation of church and State.

It is believed that a correspondent of the London Graphic, who accompanied Hicks Pasha, was killed.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

(PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.)

Boston Bank Presidents.

BOSTON, November 23. A largely attended meeting of the Boston Bank President's Association was held last evening, and the subject of the promotion and speedy passage of an equitable and uniform national Bankruptcy Law was under discussion. Congressmen from Massachusetts all favored the Lowell bill. James C. Blaine was one of the speakers. A committee of bankers says that the legislation proposed was an urgent necessity for the better protection and prosperity of the business community.

A Heavy Judgment.

PHILADELPHIA, November 23. A verdict for $50,000 was given in the U. S. Circuit Court to-day, against Albert B. Vonake of this city, formerly Collector of Internal Revenue, in the suit brought by the government to recover the amount on the bond of Benj. B. Emery, defaulting Collector of Internal Revenue for the Third District of Mississippi.

Forest Fires.

HUNTINGTON PA., November 23. Disastrous forest fires are raging at Jack Mountain and vicinity, and extends almost to Allentown, a distance of nine miles. Fifty thousand cords of wood and a like number of cords of bark were destroyed. The fire extended over several thousand acres of valuable timber land and is supposed to have been started by hunters camping on the mountains.

A Railroad Accident.

CHATTANOOGA, November 23. There was a collision on the Alabama Great Southern Railroad yesterday morning about 8 o'clock, at Coalburg, Alabama, between the south-bound New Orleans express and a north-bound freight train. Unauthenticated reports state the number killed to be four, and several injured. The accident was caused by an open switch.

Attempted Jail Break.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 23. At about 7:30 last evening the prisoners in the county jail attempted to escape by the use of dynamite. They succeeded in blowing a hole in the walls large enough to crawl through, but were confronted by the Sheriff with a cocked revolver and ordered to their cells.

An Extensive Cave.

ASHLAND, Pa., November 22. There has been an extensive cave near Logan colliery, about 700 yards long and 600 wide along the main line of the Lehigh valley. The entire Raymond tract is endangered, and a large amount of property jeopardized.

Hanged To-day.

LONDON, Tenn., November 23. Andy Taylor, the last of the three notorious Taylor brothers, was hanged at three o'clock to-day. He calmly awaited his doom, refusing to see a minister.

Centennial Celebration.

NEW YORK, November 23. The city is all agog in preparation for the Centennial Evacuation Day. If Monday brings fair weather the parade will be such a one as New York never before witnessed.

Butler Sued.

CHICAGO, November 23. The National Home for disabled volunteers and soldiers has commenced a suit to recover from General Butler $18,275 for which he has failed to account.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

(PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.)

What the Ex-Khedive Says.

LONDON, November 22. Ismael Pasha, ex-Khedive of Egypt, says that the disturbance in Sudan is due to the weakness of the Central Government at Cairo. Throughout Sudan, he said, power was exercised by religious chiefs and dervishes who could be readily controlled by country measures and the allowance of a small stipend, a practice which had been unwisely discontinued. Ismael Pasha attributed the defeat of Hicks Pasha to the disorganization of the forces of the Egyptian soldiers. He says they need, more than other soldiers, a flag, military music, and all the clat of war. Without these they would not and could not fight. The army included Arab Pashas who had been sent up like malefactors; how could Hicks Pasha fight with such material? The ex-Khedive is not surprised at the calamity; he would not advise sending English troops to Sudan; as such a course might produce more evils.

Infernal Machines.

LONDON, November 23. The police at midnight arrested a man named Wolff, a member of the Advanced Socialist Club of London, and found in his house two infernal machines of sufficient power to demolish any building. One of them was a large zinc pail nearly full of coarse blasting powder and gun cotton, covered with scrap iron, with fuse at the bottom. The second machine was a large tin cooking utensil similarly prepared.

Wolff is one of the leading socialists. The machines were fitted out with time fuses. There were about two pounds of explosive material in each machine. Wolff has been engaged for some time at the wax work exhibition at the Royal Aquarium. There was a violent explosion four months ago at his residence which he reported to be an explosion of gas. The prisoner gave the name of Wm. Wolff, occupation, chemist.

He was brought to the Bow street Police Court and charged under the Explosives Act, with knowingly having in his possession explosive substances for unlawful purposes. A Bow street officer testified that he met the prisoner on the Vauxhall bridge road, close to his residence, and that the prisoner ran away when he approached. After arresting him, the officer proceeded to Wolff's lodgings, and the infernal machines were found. He also found a letter to the German Ambassador, written in German, which says: "If you wish freedom; you must give us equality."

Revenge Himself.

CALCUTTA, November 23. Mr. Rapstoft, the British Superintendent of Nicobar Islands, Indian Ocean, while riding with his wife on the Island of Camarta, was shot dead by a Sepoy officer whom he had punished. The Sepoy then killed himself.

Will be Held Responsible.

LONDON, November 23. The Times says Gladstone and his colleagues must understand that England will hold them answerable if by further errors of judgment Egypt is allowed to relapse into anarchy.

Parnell Out of Luck.

CORK, November 23. After a warm debate last evening, the City Trustees refused to grant Exhibition Hall to Parnell to address his constituents.

WESTERN DISPATCHES

(PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.)

The Hill-Sharon Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 23. As an offset to the move of Senator Sharon's counsel, to have the Sharon-Hill case transferred from the State Court to the United States Circuit Court, it is stated this morning that Miss Hill's counsel will move the Supreme Court to submit the following issue in the case to a jury: Did the plaintiff and the defendant intermarry in the year 1880, and are they now man and wife?

Hearing of the application of William Sharon for the transference of the Hill-Sharon case to the United States Circuit Court, on the ground that the defendant is a resident of Nevada, has been postponed by consent of his counsel till Monday morning, at 10 o'clock.

The Pedestrian Match.

At 12 o'clock to-day the score of the pedestrian match now going on at the pavilion is as follows: O'Leary, 374 miles; Hart, 398; Harriman, 375; McIntyre, 396; Hart, McIntyre and Harriman were on the track at noon.

An Important Decision.

The General Land Commissioner at Washington has forwarded his decision respecting the long-contested El Sobrante land cases. He decides that the homestead entries are without validity, having been made at a time when the land was not legally subject to such appropriation, but further adds that, as the persons at present occupying the land are qualified pre-emptors, they will be entitled to file new pre-emption notices and perfect their pre-emption rights to the lands occupied by them. This decision will favorably affect a large number of settlers.

Comments on the Restriction Act.
A Cult editorial on the wholesale landing of the so-called Chinese traders, says: The records of this country furnish no parallel for the violation to which the Chinese Restriction Act has been subjected. The work commenced in the Cabinet has been continued in the Courts until, under present rulings, the law only puts our officials to some trouble and the Chinese Six Companies to some expense.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

—The French troops at Tonquin are suffering from the dysentery.

—Duke Castlemont, captured near Trapani, Naples, by brigands, was ransomed for $30,000.

—The Governor of French Cochinchina telegraphs the Minister of Marine that all French reinforcements and provisions landed at Haiphong have been forwarded to Hanoi.

—A council of war has met at Cairo to examine into the military situation and decide whether Khartoum or a point further south was tenable. No decision was reached.

—The Union Pacific is paying commission to agents, contrary to the rules of the pool. It is said they are trying to break it up. All of them are cutting and slashing Utah rates.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

—John Chisholm, for the murder of his wife, was hanged in the Essex county (N. Y.) jail this morning.

—Ten persons who lived in Jaitchar district, Belgrade, have been shot for taking part in the recent insurrection. Several others are waiting trial.

—At Paris orders have been given to prepare two transports for service in case of necessity. The question of preparing supplementary war material at Toulon is being considered.

—Hon. Henry Watterson of Louisville, Ky., delivered an address last night in advocacy of the principles of free trade. The address was somewhat in the nature of a reply to the arguments in favor of protection.

—A London cable says the Government emigration scheme has raised a storm of indignation. The Bishops and Priests openly denounce in the strongest language the new effort now being made to depopulate Ireland. Clergy of West Port conclude a series of resolutions thanking Dublin Freeman for the timely exposure of the plot which meant the transportation of thousands of Irishmen.

THE MOUNTAIN STORM.

The Energy of Nature Generously Displayed.

Very few places indeed have the advantages possessed by Reno in the immense scale on which the surrounding scenery is planned, and no one feature is more beautiful and interesting than the storms that sweep across from the Pacific and become tangled in the peaks and ranges. It would make a poet of a Plute to study the vast pictures that spread themselves on the canvas of the sky in ever varying beauty and grandeur. The Sierra Nevada ranges lie only a few miles west of us, and from foundation to ridge pole, every line is visible. It stretches north and south.

IN MEASURELESS MAGNIFICENCE, And shoots up rugged peaks at Mount Rose, Tallac and Job's peak. When California is under a cloud, some of the vapor is almost certain to be blown across, but not always in sufficient quantities to make a storm. In very many cases it hangs in picturesque shapes around the mountain tops, and in others it stretches off to the east, in every conceivable variety of color and shape. When a light mist creeps down the mountain side, it often follows the deep canyons leaving the ridges bare. It is easy to imagine that some huge cauldron full of candy had been emptied over the summit and was slowly rolling towards the valley. It would not be a bad place for Santa Claus to make his preparations for Christmas. At other times great walls of white pile silently one on top of the other, and finally break and tumble down the eastern slope. It is only once or twice a year that

THE STORM KING Really rouses himself to a fury and then the mighty Sierra is a sight to behold. Black bunches of clouds fly swiftly across the sky, the wind can almost be seen as it roars through the passes and among the broken ridges. Squalls of snow are pressed from the heavy bosoms of the clouds and are heaped in great drifts behind each rocky wall or fallen tree. No one at a distance can even imagine the force and majesty displayed at such a time. When the fitful forces are equalized and the skies are clear again the transformation is inexpressibly beautiful. The sun lights up the new fallen snow, the trees are silver and all the harsh lines softened. There is a vagueness of outline and a look of porcelain transparency on the surface, as if one could see into it a little way, that is almost weird. When the light falls at another angle every line is as clear as copper plate, and the whole landscape is dazzling bright. Sometimes a breeze will pick up the loose snow and stretch it in a long BANNER-LIKE LINE From the top of the higher peaks, their walls just breaking the force of the wind sufficient to keep the particles aloft. When the air is laden with moisture and suddenly turns colder, pogonip results, and any one standing on the summit would see an ocean of milk with an occasional brown island where a mountain range had been. A rare storm is seen from Reno sometimes, which looks as if it might be a cross section of two seasons of the year. Far up the bitter cold of January, congeals the moisture in heavy banks of clouds and a February snow storm starts down towards the plains. As it falls through a lower stratum it is turned into a cold March or April rain. In sunrise or sunset there is no country which enjoys more beautiful or interesting sights than this, and it is well to learn to appreciate them. The scenery of the sky far exceeds any landscape in color, form and variety. It is vapor and changes momentarily, assuming fantastic shapes and lovely shades, while the earth's surface is hard ground and solid rock, which is inflexible in form and dull in color.

Burglars About. Yesterday afternoon, about 1 o'clock, the residence of C. A. Bragg, on West street, was entered by a burglar, and a diamond ring, a silver open-faced watch, and a lady's gold hunting-case, watch, with chain and pin, taken. The sneak effected an entrance by raising a window, and prying open a door between the kitchen and dining-room with a hatchet. Constable Nash arrested a little black-and-tan hoodlum from Sacramento, who was seen at the house, and who is known to be a sneak-thief and burglar. He also took in another fellow, suspected of being an accomplice. The Sacramento fellow has been hanging about town for quite a while, spending a greater portion of his time in jail for opium smoking and vagrancy. He burglarized the cabin of old man Hall, east of town, the day before, stealing an overcoat and other articles of clothing, besides a pistol and a pair of field-glasses.

Not at Liberty. A. L. Greeley, the man from Esmeralda county who was sent to the Nevada Insane Asylum a few weeks ago, has been released. He claimed that his relatives concocted a scheme to get him out of the way, that they might fraudulently obtain possession of his property. He secured the services of General R. M. Clarke, and is now at liberty. If the allegations made by him are true, the parties who perpetrated the outrage ought to spend the rest of their days in the penitentiary.

OLD TIMES.

A Few Words of Sound Reasoning From an Old Resident.

"I came to this State when barley was selling for 12 1/2 cents a pound and hay was $150 a ton. Gould & Curry stock was $2,500 a foot and drinks of all kinds were 25 cents, and the laborer scorned to smoke anything but two bit cigars," said an old pioneer to a GAZETTE representative yesterday. "I was here when the market dropped in '64, and have carefully watched the ups and downs of the State since that time. I have seen the rich reduced to poverty, and the poor made millionaires in a day. I was pulling in a good pot occasionally when mining superintendents drove fast horses and changed teams twice or three times a day; when $20 gold pieces were as plentiful as dollars are nowadays, but I never yet found a clothing store to equal the White House. Their stock of overcoats, boys' clothing, and gent's furnishing goods is as complete as money and experience can make it."

Wadsworth Notes. A correspondent says: The new town over the river is called Dodgeville, in honor of its founder.

Rev. Mr. Helsey has been at the Sink of the Carson for a week. He is an energetic gentleman, and is laboring hard to benefit this community.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Gladding celebrated their tin wedding the other evening.

Our school is in full blast, and we also have a nice Sabbath-school. The railroad bridge is being re-roofed with sheet iron.

N. Cole, engineer on the overland, leaves for Florida next month, where he has real estate. He is going to make some improvements on it.

Mrs. Morris of Reno is visiting the family of T. J. Herman.

Richards has returned from his western trip looking well, but to everybody's surprise, a bachelor.

Why do Boys Run Away? "Why do boys run away from home?" asks an exchange. There are several reasons. When a boy turns a grindstone for his father to sharpen an ax, and the old man bears on so hard that the sparks fly from the stone, and the boy's eyes and tongue hang out in the 107,846th round, and after an hour's turning his arms feel as if they were coming out by the roots, and his father looks up and asks, as he throws on a little more weight, "Does it turn—hard?"—then the boy decides to run away from home and become a pirate or a cow-boy, or some other kind of outlaw.

A Card. William Plummer, readers his best thanks to his numerous friends, and the public generally, for the very liberal support accorded him in the past, and he begs to inform them that he has again met a co-partnership with R. E. Queen, at the old stand, and respectfully invites a continuance of their patronage. The new firm have added largely to their stock of drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, wines and liquors for medicinal purposes; toilet and fancy articles, etc. In the dispensing department they make a specialty of physicians' prescriptions and family recipes, bringing to their already large stock of the latest achievements of scientific pharmacy, and are prompt in filling all orders entrusted to them.

PINNICK & QUEEN. Note the address—West side Virginia street, Reno.

The Carson Land Office. Yesterday H. M. Yerington received a telegram from Washington signed by Congressman Cassidy stating that the order for the removal of the Carson Land Office had been suspended. It is not probable that the removal will ever be made. Congressman Cassidy deserves the thanks of the people of Western Nevada for his prompt attention to the matter.

A New Lodge. The Knights of Honor will institute a lodge in Reno this evening. A number will be here from Virginia and Wadsworth to assist in organizing it. Nick Hammermith and P. H. Muleahy, two old members of the order, have worked faithfully for some time past in the interest of the organization. They have a charter membership of 31.

Stock Notes. L. Bluebeck came in from Honey Lake yesterday with a lot of calves and fine fat porkers. He had no difficulty in disposing of them.

There are two droves of hogs in Lee's corral—about 200. They are for sale.

Wm. McKay has 3,000 head of sheep for sale.

Maggie Moore. Mrs. J. C. Williamson, one of Nevada's theatrical favorites, and who has been starring in the Adair, will visit some of her old friends in this State during the holidays. She is a sister of Mrs. Matt Richman.

Special Meeting. Reno Chapter No. 7, R. A. M. Saturday evening, November 23, 1918, at 7:30 o'clock, conferring R. A. Degree. Companions invited to attend. By order of E. H. P. W. L. BECHTEL, Sec'y.

Suit Withdrawn. The matter of appointing a guardian over the person and estate of Allan B. Evans will be withdrawn from the Superior Court of Lassen county, at the request of the petitioners.

A Mad Accident. EMIGRANT GAP, Nov. 22.

Editor Gazette:—John Lee, the foreman of the granite quarries at Yuba Pass and Crystal Lake, was struck on the head by a fragment of rock from a blast yesterday evening about 6 o'clock and instantly killed. All the men except three had gone to camp. Those put off the blasts and went to camp also. He was not missed until 7 o'clock. Then it was thought he had gone to the Gap in company with the blacksmiths who had gone down on business, so no further search or inquiry was made. This morning when the men went to work he was found on a loaded car, about 100 feet from the blast, where he was engaged at the time measuring and marking rock. He was between two rocks and still in a partial standing position, with papers in his left hand. His head was badly smashed and the left side of the head carried away. He leaves a wife and nine children.

"Mistaken, Not Haystacks." The Carson Appeal quotes Martin Luther's celebrated couplet thusly: He who loves not women woe and Loss remains a fool his whole life long.

Sam Davis reminds us of a Tuscarora lady who, the other evening, remarked: "Where ignorance is bliss, it follows to be wise."—Times-Review.

Which reminds us of a Comstock old lady who, praising her favorite physician, said: "He is really a very distinguished disciple of old Eucliydus."—Enterprise.

When the old lady lived here, she came into the GAZETTE office to advertise a lost handkerchief, saying that her "entrails were engraved on it."

Could Hardly Stand on Her Feet. R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. Dear Sir:—I must tell you what your medicine has done for me. Before taking your "Favorite Prescription" I could hardly stand on my feet, but, by following your advice I am perfectly cured. The "Favorite Prescription" is a wonderful medicine for debilitated or nervous females. I cannot express how thankful I am to you for your advice. Yours truly, Mrs. CORNELIA ALLISON, Peoria, Iowa.

Accident at the Foundry. In handling a crane containing about 2,000 pounds of molten iron in Fraser's foundry, the other day, one of the workmen became nervous and the vessel was overturned, giving the master mechanic quite a scare and seriously injuring one of the employees.

Can They Do It? The White Pine County Grand Jury has dismissed the indictment against Louis Cook, the defaulting treasurer of several years ago. He embezzled $80,000 and went to Japan.
